

Sunflower Fields Bracelet (DI3)

This beautiful bracelet was inspired by the warm colors of millefiori in the cross dangle. Golden yellow crystals, daisy lace beads, and rich topaz rounds unite to recreate the warmth of a field of sunflowers.

Instructions:

Step 1: Cut a 12-inch length of .019 jewelry wire. This will allow for a 7-½ inch bracelet and plenty of room on either end for crimping.

Step 2: Tape one end of the jewelry wire or use a beader's crimp to keep the beads from falling off.

Step 3: String a 3mm Swarovski faceted bicone crystal in Light Siam followed by a 4.5mm bead cap, 8mm Swarovski faceted bicone crystal in Sunflower, 4.5mm bead cap, 3mm crystal in Light Siam, 7mm bead cap, 16mm topaz round, 7mm bead cap, 3mm crystal in Light Siam, 4.5mm bead cap, 8mm daisy round, 4.5mm bead cap, 3mm crystal in Light Siam, 7mm bead cap, 16mm topaz round, 7mm bead cap, 3mm crystal in Light Siam, 4.5mm bead cap, 8mm crystal in Sunflower, 4.5mm bead cap, 3mm crystal in Light Siam, 7mm bead cap, 16mm topaz round.

Step 4: At this point, the bracelet mirrors itself. Continue the pattern by stringing Step 3 in reverse starting with a 7mm bead cap, 3mm crystal in Light Siam, 4.5mm bead cap, 8mm crystal in Sunflower, etc., ending with a 3mm crystal in Light Siam.

Step 5: To finish the bracelet, string a twisted crimp followed by a wire protector. String the toggle onto the wire protector and back through the twisted crimp. Make sure the wire is snug around the wire protector and using a pair of flat nosed pliers squeeze the twisted crimp. Repeat on the other end, making sure there are no spaces between the beads and the wire is kept snug around the wire protector.

Step 6: The finishing touch is opening the jump ring and attaching the cross dangle onto the ring of the toggle.
